Livingston County Clerk Heads State Association

Albany – The New York State Association of County Clerks (NYSACC) has announced that James A. Culbertson has been appointed as President of the Association. Culbertson took office on February 11, 2008 during the installation banquet in Albany. He was sworn in as the President of NYSACC by the Honorable Robert B. Wiggins, Livingston County Court Judge and Acting Supreme Court Judge 7th Judicial District.

The New York State Association of County Clerks is a statewide organization comprised of County Clerk's from 57 counties, five boroughs and the New York City Registrar.

Culbertson was first elected in 1994, and has since been elected to 4 consecutive terms of office.
